

AVerMedia Secures Keelung Bus Company in Taiwan

Taipei, Taiwan, January 5, 2010- Keelung Bus Company, established in 1952, is one of the main transportation companies in Taiwan. To ensure the safety of its passengers and drivers, Keelung Bus Company adopted AVerDiGi EB1304MOB as monitoring device to secure company's buses when in operation.

In this bus surveillance project, each EB1304 MOB, the 4CH mobile DVR, was connected to 4 fixed IR cameras, running 24 hours a day, 7 days a week as security surveillance. "With the smart design of removable HDD drawer, HDD backup can be quickly utilize by bus drivers for data management," said the bus company owner. AVerDiGi EB1304 MOB stood up from this competitive project due to its excellent video quality, double hardware, and anti-vibration protection design by rubber vibration insulator-which comes with free bundled iStable software to fix shaking and jots impact to apply optimized digital video quality for bus mobile surveillance needs.

Providing you the seamless integration of mobile surveillance, AVerMedia also developed a new generation of mobile DVR, MOB1304 NET, which pioneered the mobile DVR industry with Google Map integration, GPS Receiver and WiFi/3G functions, and remote access capability, such as Central Management System (CM3000/CM3000 Gold), to ensure the safety of your trip at anytime and from anywhere.
